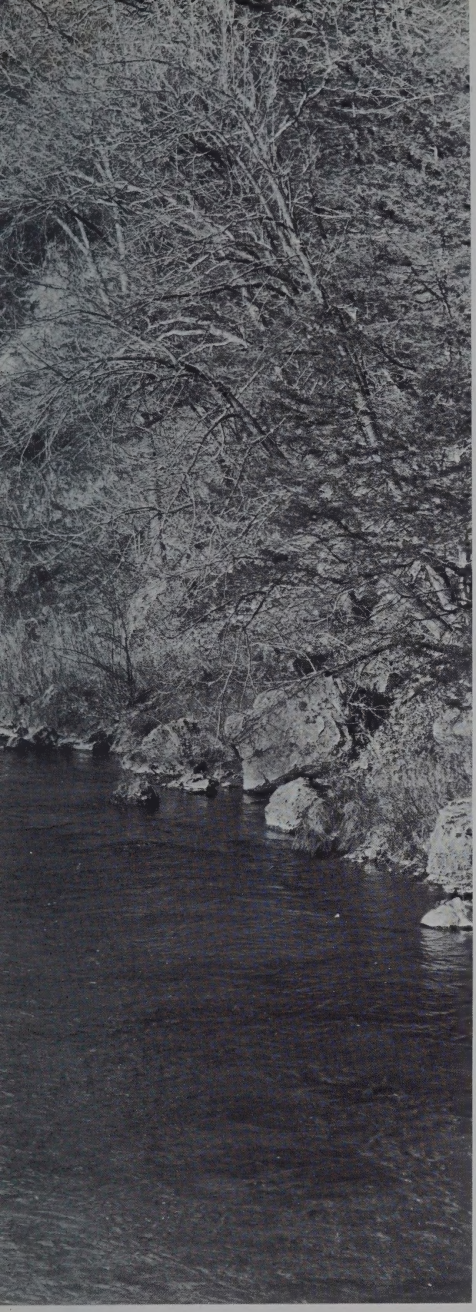
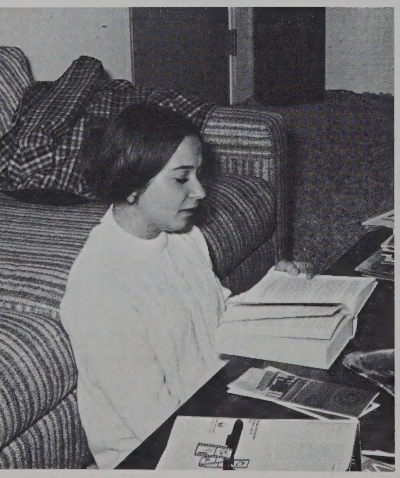
UPPER IOWA
COLLEGE
FAYETTE IOWA



A river is similar to life — its course is a series of winding bends: sometimes smooth flowing, sometimes shallow. Always changing, it can become a source of confusion or a comfort for the troubled. The source of a river is pure and fresh, just as youth is. Yet as it flows on, the water becomes deeper and swifter. You follow the winding river around curves, through thick woods and sometimes emerge not knowing where to turn. The river of life presents obstacles to us all — the tricky rapids that can lead you astray, or the hidden rocks on the bottom, waiting to catch you unaware. But then there comes a place where the river widens and the water becomes calm and cool; a place to rest and think — about your own turning point.

The Year Begins . . .

with the making of new friendships, the renewal of old ones. Freshmen are indoctrinated into the routine of college life, and become familiar with the quirks of Upper Iowa — Granny's cookies, free dances on weekends with lots to do, the perennial keggers and the beauty of Big Rock.



. . . with the hassle of registration, the declaration of draft status, and the advent of classes. As the excitement of the first few weeks subsides, thoughts turn to more serious plans. It seems as if term papers are due right away and academic activities get under way.

A moment
reflection . . .

. . . about events of the past and promises for the future and for those who find that turning point and follow it, may that path take you to that long awaited goal

to Dean Dixon for her DEDICATION

As Dean of Women, you have relaxed some of the restrictions that had hindered campus women for so long, and have given them the pride necessary for a workable honor system. You have also given them a chance to seek out counsel, to make their own decisions, or to just talk.

As Dean Lady of the dorm, you have headed a staff of resident advisers who work smoothly with the students to produce an atmosphere of trust and freedom. But most of all you are our friend. Thank you, Dean, for caring.

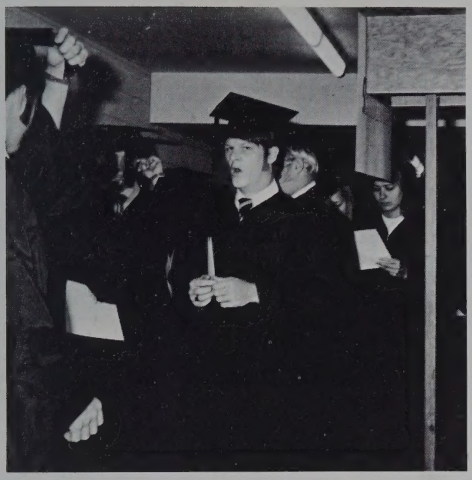
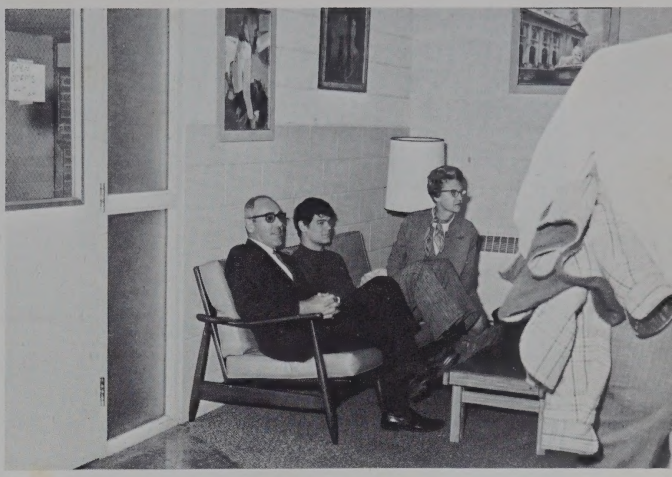
Parents watch as Dr. Paul is INAUGURATED president of Upper Iowa

Before coming to Upper Iowa Dr. Aldrich K. Paul received his doctorate from the University of Denver and went on to become Assistant Professor and Director of Forensics at Iowa State. Then he served for eight years as Professor and Chairman of the Department of Speech at the Municipal University of Omaha. From there he became Professor of Speech and Chairman of the Department of Speech and Theatre Arts, University of Cincinnati, a position he held until coming to Upper Iowa in January, 1970.

Although Dr. Paul has been on the Upper Iowa campus since January, he formally became UIC's sixteenth president during ceremonies on October 24. With the office of president, Dr. Paul was awarded the new emblem of the office, to be worn at all official occasions with academic regalia. In his role as president, Dr. Paul has strengthened communications between student and administration.

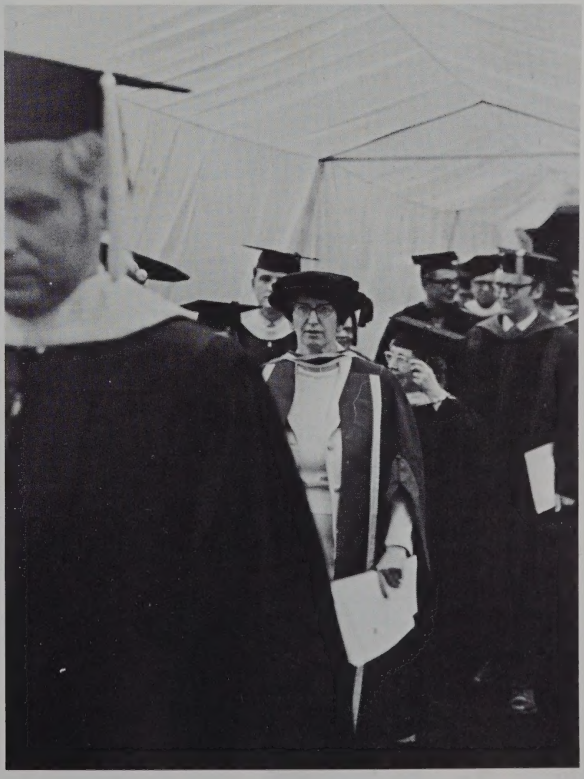
Parents visiting for the day also became involved in Dr. Paul's inauguration.

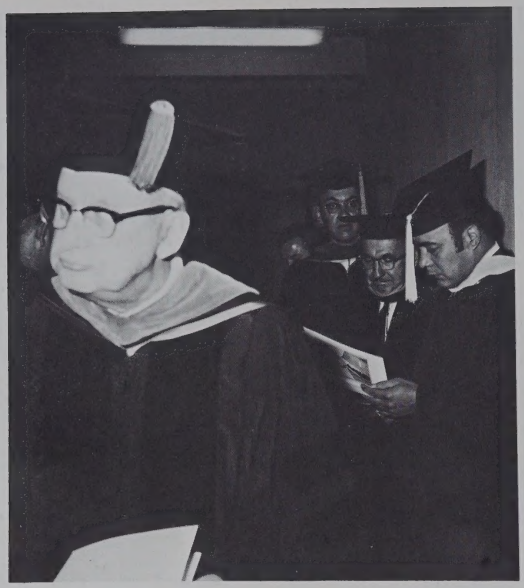


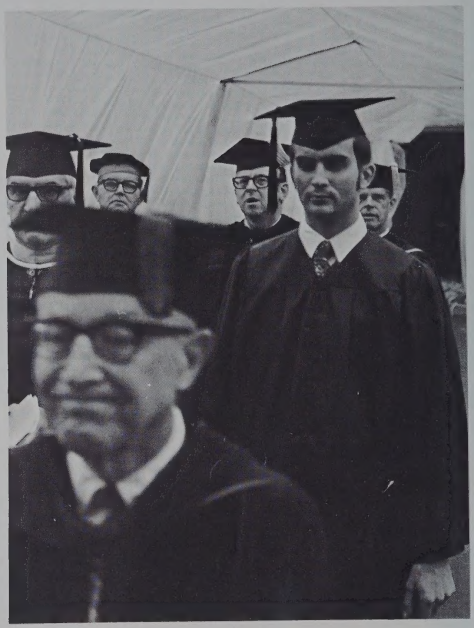


Dr. Georgine Prokopov leads the delegation of professional and learned societies representing colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Representatives from Student Government and the senior class participated in the ceremonies.







Dr. Thomas A. Bonner, Provost of Academic Affairs at the University of Cincinnati, gave the inaugural address. The remainder of the platform party included R. M. Westerfield, President of the Board of Trustees; Dr. George T. Carl, pastor, United Methodist Church; H. E. Kamm, President, Alumni Association; Patrick Doland, President of the Student Government; Dr. Charles B. Clark, Academic Dean; and Dr. Herschel Hendrix, Vice-President and Dean.

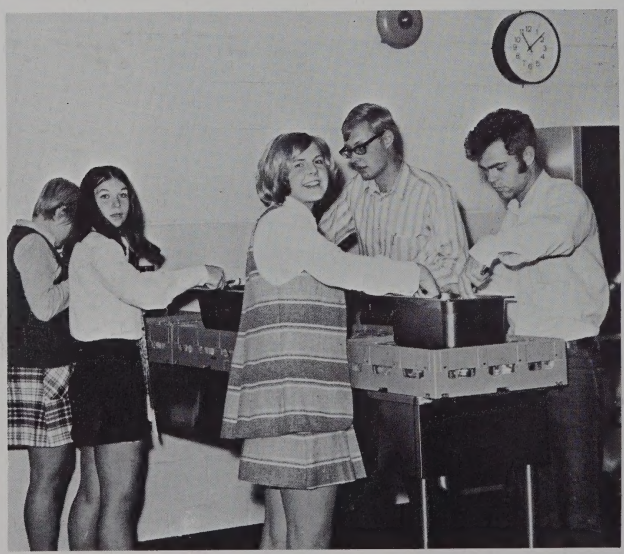
Student representatives followed the Board of Trustees in the academic procession.

Visiting delegates, parents and alumni registered in the lounge.

Following the inauguration, Dr. and Mrs. Paul mingled with guests in Garbee Lounge.

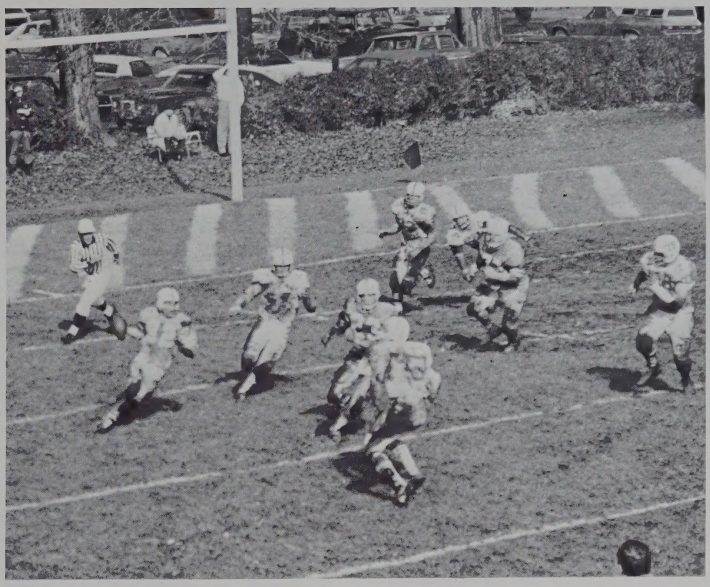
Dr. Paul and his family were honored guests at the dinner for those who participated in the inauguration ceremonies.

Parents and students were served in Colegrove-Walker auditorium.



Members of TKE and freshmen English students served the formal dinner.

A bright spot in the Buena Vista game comes when Jim Meggars receives the ball and runs for a sizable gain.



Connie Doland and Marsha Andrews served punch at the reception.

Following the game, Dr. Paul held a reception in Graf Lounge. Many of the delegates from other colleges were impressed with the new lounge and with the open house. The reception provided an opportunity for students and parents to meet with the representatives and visitors.

Judy Hyde visits with a room full of guests.

Students, faculty and delegates were all invited to the Inaugural Ball.

To launch the Inauguration activities, drama students from the University of Cincinnati presented a musical satire entitled "Money".

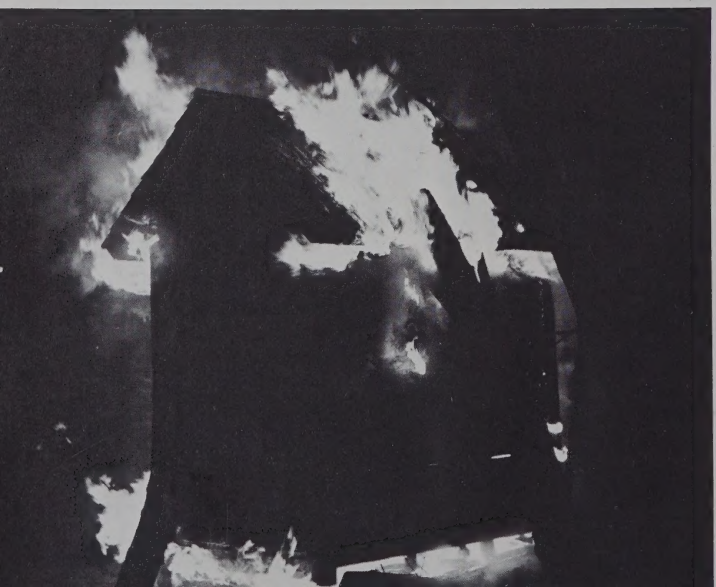
HOMECOMING '70 — an experience

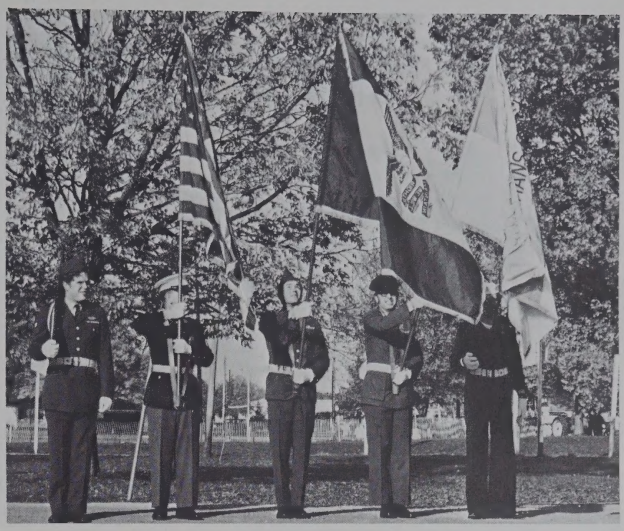
Rainy weather dampened spirits during early week activities, and the small turnout at the Badfinger concert convinced many that this year's Homecoming would be a flop. The football team had experienced a disappointing season so far; many were not even sure of all the activities scheduled for the weekend. As Homecoming festivities began, however, the attitude seemed to change and the tide was yet to turn . . .

Mixed emotions surrounded the Badfinger concert, but it was not a total failure.

Coach Olson gave a pep talk after introducing the team captains at the rally Friday.

But not even cold, rainy weather could stop the roaring bonfire.



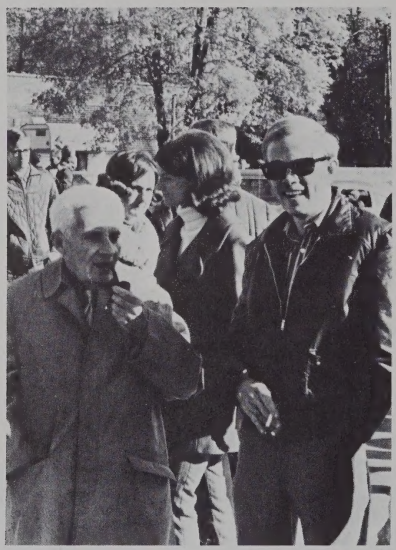


Saturday morning dawned crisp and sunny. After a long night finishing up last minute details on floats, the organizations lined up floats early. The parade began, and students lined the streets to watch the floats and queen. With the anticipation of winning the float awards and hopes for a football victory, the spirit of the student body rose considerably.

Science Club wins the Sweepstakes again this year.

Betas and Sigmas "Blast 'Em" for first place.

GHWC and EYE (under the sponsorship of Political Issues) capture second prize.



The Veterans' Club, aided by the Foxes, claim third.

Fayette got into the swing of activities and presented a float of their own.

With the beginning of the parade, each student could finally see his contribution to Homecoming and appreciate the weekend more. Friends and parents were arriving and the college began bustling with activity. Alumni, parents and students met at the football field with the hopes that Upper Iowa would win its most important game of the year.

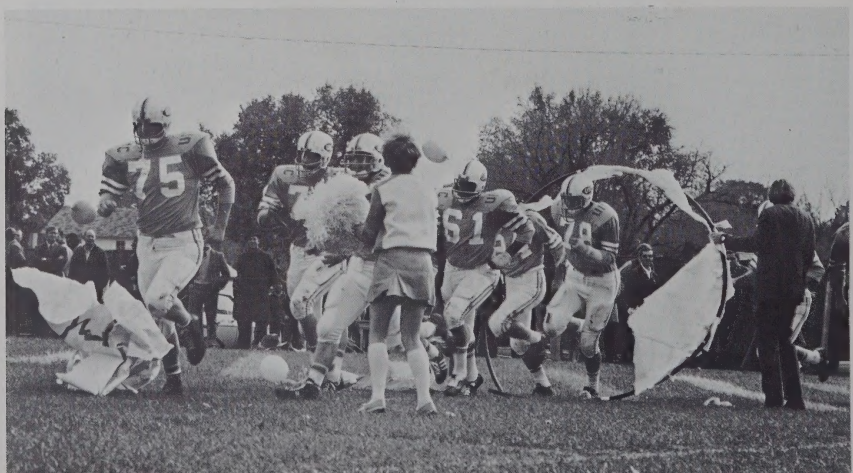
Jerry Cweinkala cheers on the Peacocks, adding a little spirit of his own.

The cheerleaders always do a great job of supporting the team and cheering them on.



Peacocks return after the half, ready to fight again.

The Peacocks fought hard, but their opponents were better. The loss was disappointing for a while, but once the students returned to school for the banquet, the loss was forgiven. With the hurried preparations for the dance Saturday night and the presentation of Kim and her court, the weekend became a blur of activities. But most will remember the good times of the weekend; the fun of building floats, the excitement of the game, and the parties that night.

Queen Kim and her court are presented to the crowd at half-time.

WINTER

rivals Homecoming as top social event of the year . . .

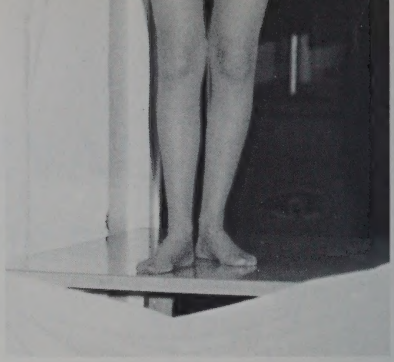
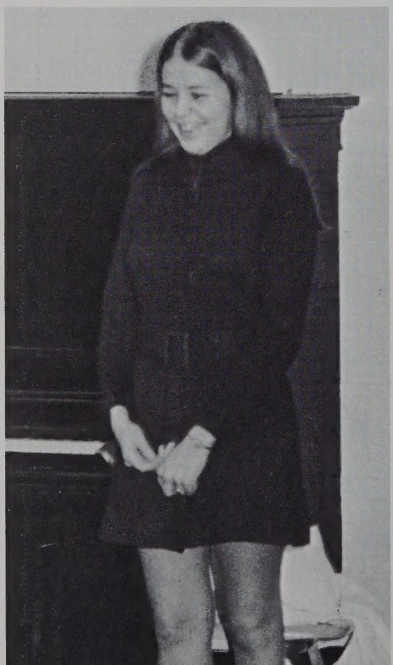
Winter Carnival 1971 — a combination of snow, concerts, and cards.

Festivities began Sunday evening with the annual Harold's Night. But the evening was first introduced with a pancake supper and a pancake eating contest. Steve Musson calimed the first place prize after stuffing down thirteen giant sized pancakes. Then the mad money began flying! Games ranged from blackjack to roulette and winnings were mounting into the hundreds of thousands. Finally APO called an end to the gambling and prepared for the actuion to follow. In grand style, the winners offered outrageous sums for even the smallest items for sale. A few examples of the wild bidding included a wastebasket selling for $52,000, two identical sets of earrings, one selling for $28,000 and the other for a mere $27,000, and finally the grand prize — a year's subscription to Playboy magazine — going for $97,000.

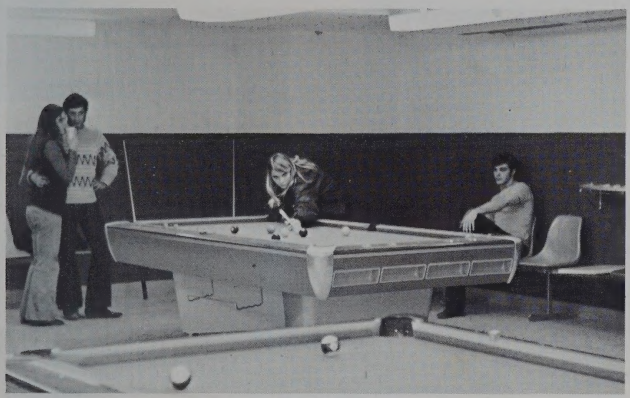
Although much of the bidding throughout the evening was spirited, the final auctioning of the Playboy subscription caused even more excitement. As the money was dwindling, many who had small sums remaining pooled their resources and voiced a final bid of $100,000 for the subscription. Only later was it discovered that the addition of some members was faulty, and the preceding bid of $97,000 was actually the winner.





Margo Sydness was chosen Miss Drumsticks of 1971, from quite an attractive range of contenders.

free prizes, free games, and FUN for all . . .



To wrap up Harlod's Night, all tickets are thrown into a box from which Miss Drumsticks draws a winner of the grand prize — this year a transistor radio won by LuEllen Foye.

Monday and Tuesday were planned for card and checker tournaments and also designated as Free Nights in the union. These Daily events helped greatly to establish a sense of unity for the week, that has been lacking in other social events. It was easier for students to maintain the festive spirit between major events.

The championship round of the eucher tournament involved a 2 out of 3 wins basis, with Ace and Lance Taking honors.

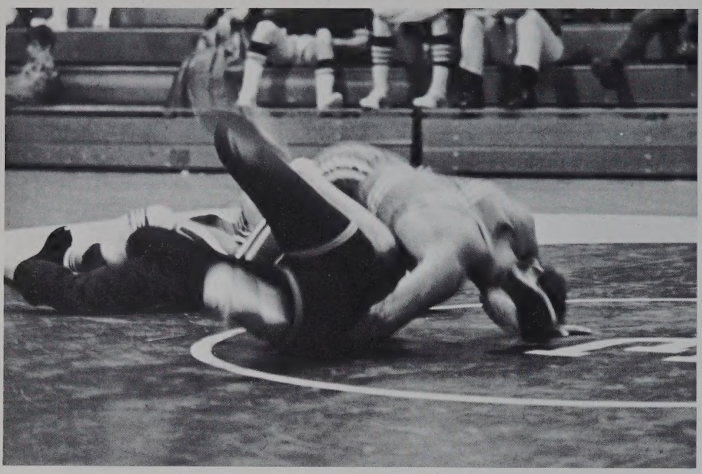
Miss Cynthia Hoard
1971 WINTER CARNIVAL QUEEN

Debby Gent

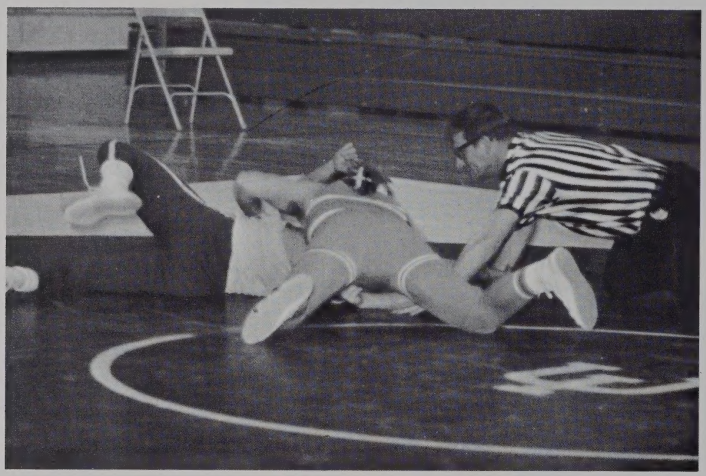
Mary Clare Lilli

Mike Eischeid, kicker for the Oakland Raiders, was special guest at the Wednesday evening concert. Denny Brooks returned to U.I.C. by popular demand and was even more successful than he was at Homecoming. During the intermission, Master of Ceremonies Chris Dawe introduced each of the candidates and Mike crowned Cynthia as the new Winter Carnival Queen.

Friday evening entertainment was provided by "The Axe" in the union.



SATURDAY means hard work for both wrestlers & sculptors

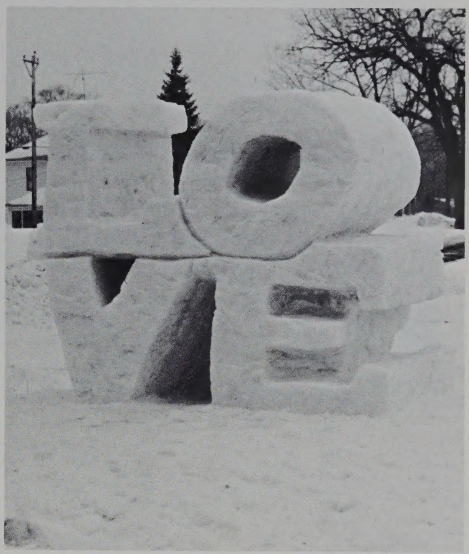


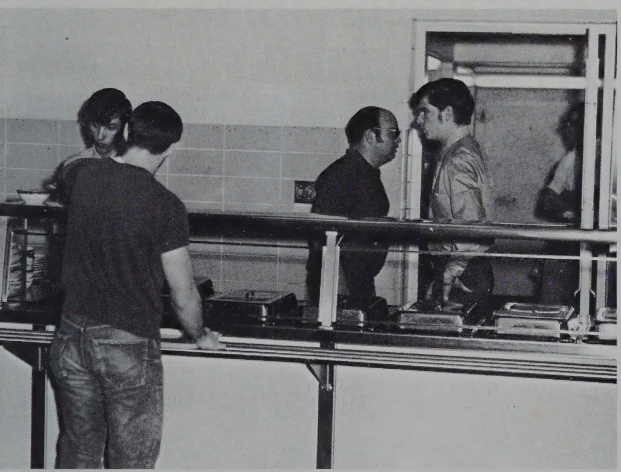
The Upper Iowa Invitational is perhaps the biggest wrestling event of the season, and if attendence is any indication, the event was tremendously successful. Of course, U.I.C. again claimed first place in their own invitational, and also was named the best team. Competing with seven other colleges, Upper Iowa captured five of the top weights and did admirably well in all other categories.

Although much of the actual work for the snow sculptures began long before Saturday, the deadline was set for that afternoon. Judging began at 3:00, and many prospective groups cancelled due to the harsh weather. Of the few remaining, Beta Theta Phi again claimed first place for their tribute to Upper Iowa Landmarks.

TKE's placed second in the snow sculpture competition.

Simplicity marked the Foxes' exhibit in meaning as well as structure.





Veterans' Club sponsored a chili supper Sunday evening — and even outdid the cafeteria at its own game!

"The Investigation", a production depicting the mass genocide of the Jews during World War II in Germany, left even the most passive viewer more aware of the atrocities of man.

GOOD TIMES are for those . . .

who have the patience to make them

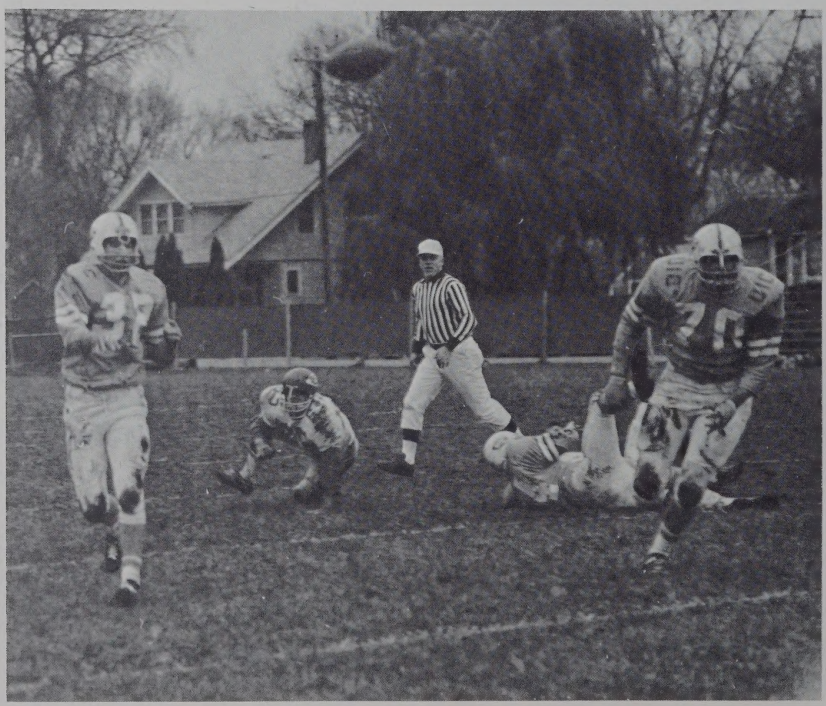
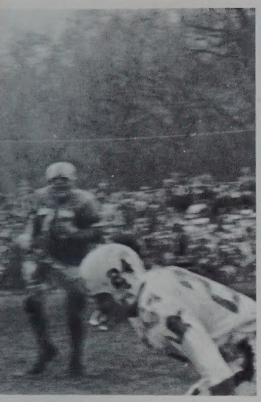
The 1970 version of the Peacock football team had many ups and downs with perhaps a few more ups than a 1-6-1 record might indicate. As the season progressed, the Peacocks fought desperately to avoid a last place finish. But after the final game with Simpson, Coach Olson summed up the feelings of all football fans when he said he was "disappointed" in the record, but "proud" of the team.



Jim Meggars receives pass from teammate at Simpson game.



Bill Hummel struggles to keep a pass during the battle with Luther.

The 1970 football season opened at Milton College, who joined the roster for the first time this year, only to have the long trip bring them a 13-13 tie.

The game against arch-rival Wartburg opened the conference schedule on September 19. Even though Wartburg lost a few more players than the Peacocks and the game was a hard fought battle, the 9-7 loss leaves the victory bell at Wartburg for another year.

The high-point of the season was reached as the proud Peacocks stopped William Penn, at that time ranked 7th defensively in the national polls. Dale Whaley booted two field goals to put the game out of reach after Vogeler broke it open with a 47 yard touchdown. Great defensive effort, pass coverage and outstanding individual plays gave the Upper Iowa fans their first and last chance to proclaim "We're number 1!"

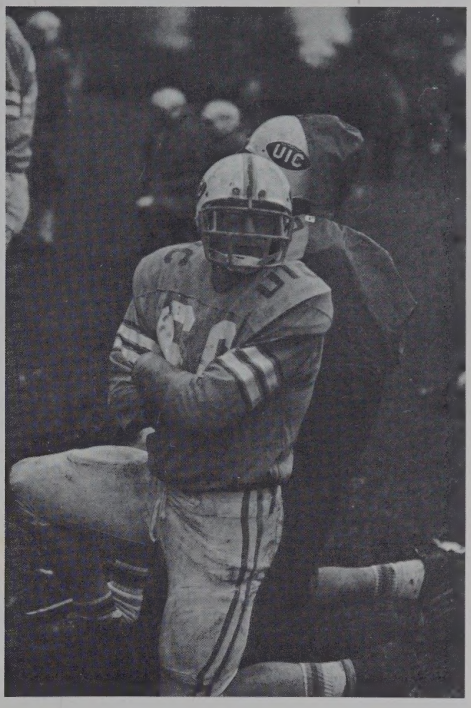
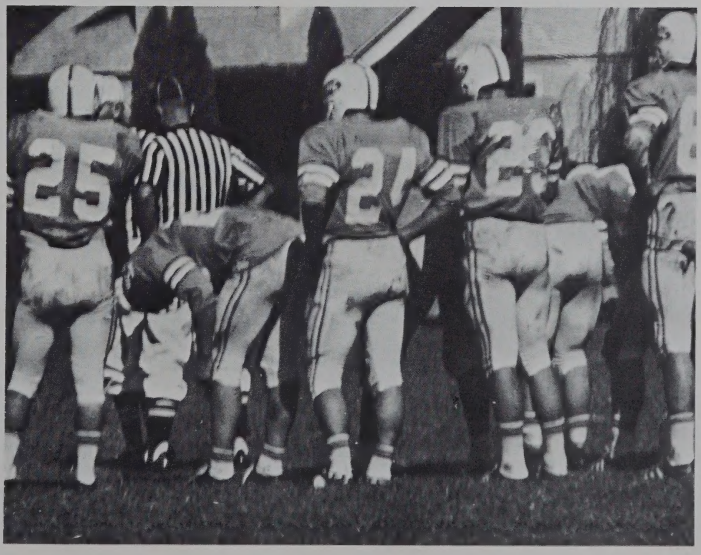
1970 Peacocks

Perhaps the cheerleaders were closest to the struggles, triumphs, and setbacks of the team throughout this disappointing season. Yet some good did come from it all; a new sense of identity and unity was established among the players. With the hope that this unity will continue until next year, UIC fans will continue to support the Peacocks.

Gary Martin stops short for a pass against rival Norsemen.

During a dance in CW the night before the Dubuque clash, Coach Olson introduces the traveling team.





In the hopes of continuing their winning, the squad traveled to Dubuque for a game that was sabotaged by sloppy offense, including numerous penalties which nullified any substantial gains. Yet despite the penalties the Cocks were not out of the game until the very end, losing 21-19.

Another close battle with Simpson this time was lost in the last quarter of play. But even though the game was close, and as the clock ticked away the final seconds, it also ticked away any chance of getting out of the cellar.

Homecoming often inspires great performances from the Big Blue. But the game this year with Central proved to be one of the most futile efforts not only to the fans but the athletes as well. Neither the defense nor offense was able to get going against the Dutchmen and the subsequent effort was a 26-0 loss.

Chi lends his moral support for Homecoming and finds UIC fans in high spirits despite team performance.

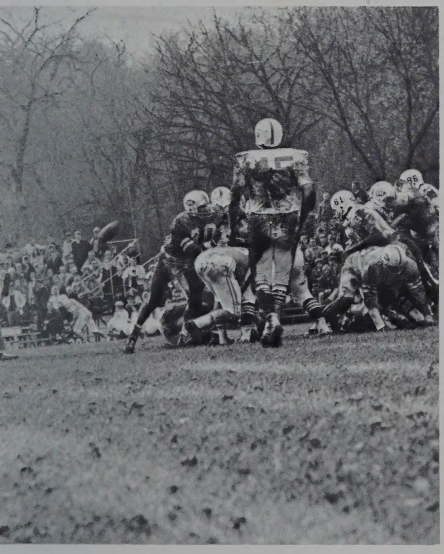
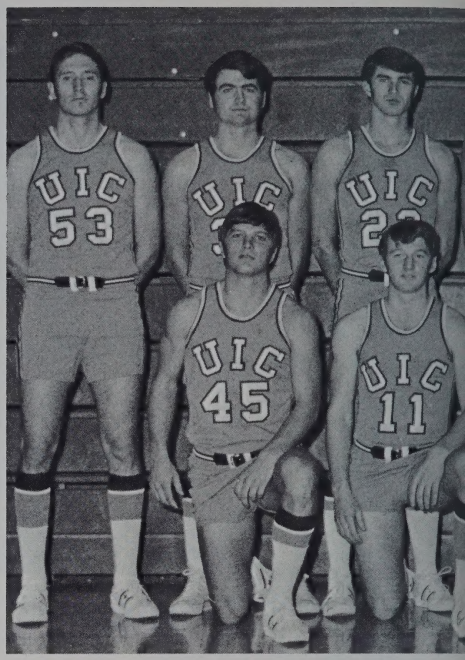
Conference — leading Luther came to town bringing with it an intense athletic rivalry with the Peacocks. Big Blue came out fighting and ended the first half with a 7-7 tie. But despite a tightened defense, place kicker Jastaad tallied an unbeatable ten points to finish the game, 16-7 in favor of the Norse.



highlights of this fickle BASKETBALL season . . .



The 1970-71 version of the cagers of Peacock blue encountered a year of ups and downs — a U.I.C. version of "the agony and the ecstacy". Their 11-11 record is a good indication of the consistancy of inconsistancy displayed by this year's squad. Early in the year the fans (who also had their ups and downs) chanted, "We're No. 1", while in the end they were contented with watching the games and hoping for a victory. Bob Roberts received special acclaim in rising above the 1,000 point level to place eight on the all-time Peacock scoring list. He also led the team in scoring with a 17.5 average and a 356 point total. Other top scorers were Dan Marske, with 14.3 and Mike Roup with 13.2 points, while Fred Achnell boasted the best field goal percentage. As a team, the Peacocks out-scored their opponents 80.5-79.1.

And yet even with these statistics on their side, the Peacocks just did not have the prolonged winning streak needed for a conference title. On some nights they played like champs, and on others (usually the following night) they played like something other than champs — not terrible, but just not champs.

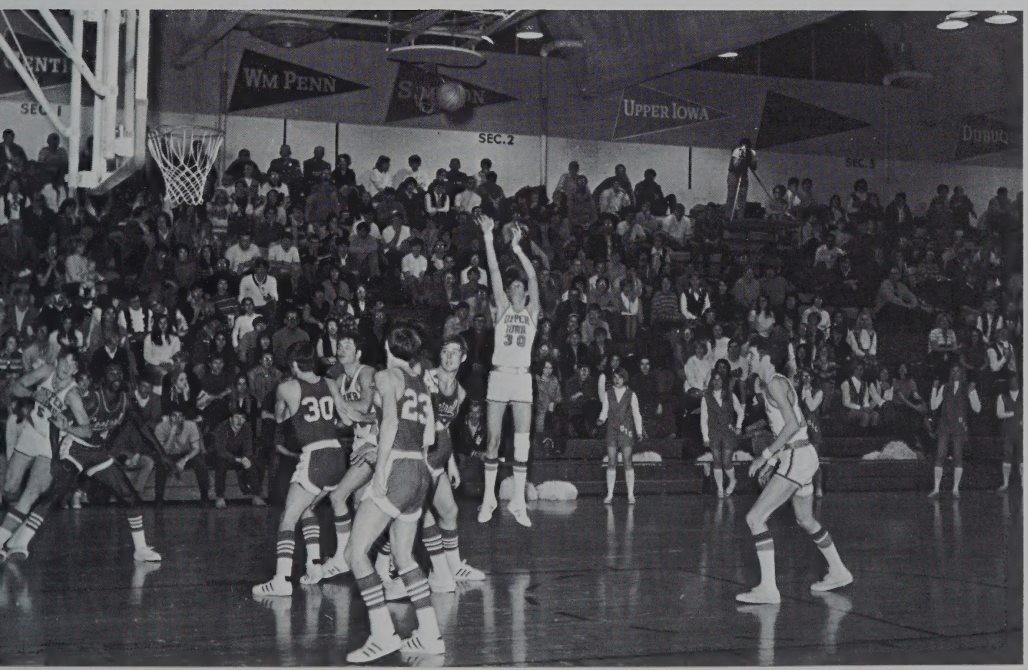
Team spirit, coupled with school spirit, can make even the not-so-successful season exciting.



Fred Schnell makes a successful shot and then later comes back for another attempt.

After the home victory over Cornell, the Peacocks defeated their first conference foe, the University of Dubuque. From this point the players and fans were both sure that a good year awaited them. Later, an 85-76 victory over Dubuque blasted the fans' hopes into orbit and the Peacocks into contention for first place.

Bob Roberts scores two more for the Peacocks against top contender Dubuque.

Jim Yanacek travels down the court to increase U.I.C.'s margin in the tense Wartburg game.

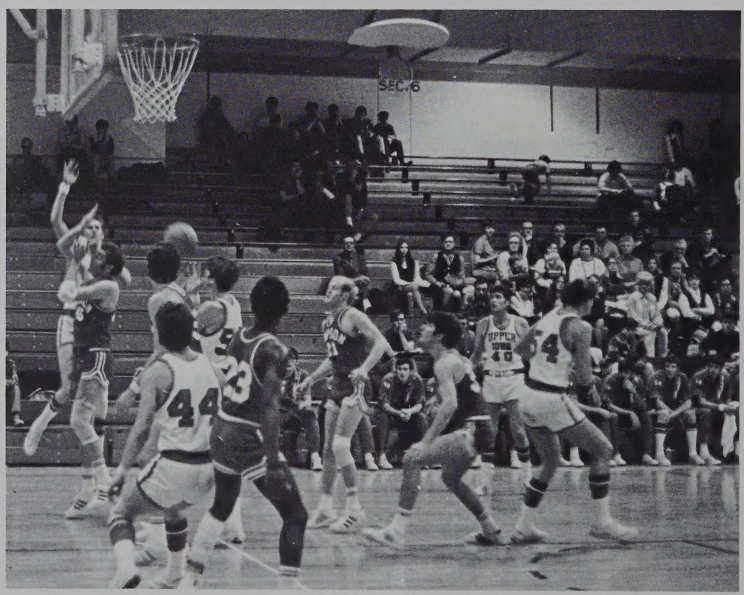
Arch-rivals and conference foes Wartburg and Luther were soundly beaten on the home court, 88-78 and 74-62 respectively. After securing four victories in the next five non-conference games, once again it looked as if we might have a chance.

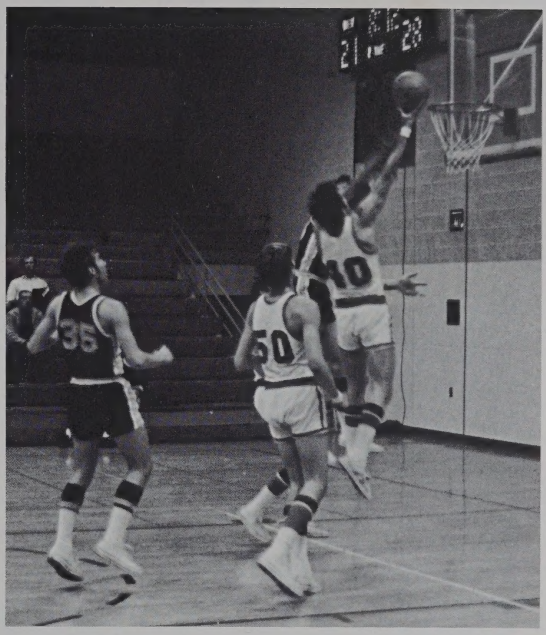
The season's hopes were put on the line, however, when fellow first place contenders William Penn and Central came to U.I.C. A strong second half sent the Peacocks to a key 63-60 victory over Wm Penn, but Central proved to be too much for the Peacocks, even down to the last bitter overtime.

With four games remaining on the schedule and no hope of obtaining the conference title, there was something missing from both the players and the fans.

After a victory over Simpson earlier in the season, the Peacocks slumped and once again lost in their regular weekend denouement, 91-86. From here, the season ended in grand anti-climactic style with losses to Wartburg and Luther.

Even the efforts of the team seemed to be unable to counteract the downward trend. The ups and downs were now almost balanced.





A surprise turn of events pleased everyone as Upper Iowa did an about-face during the Buena Vista game. The team rallied for a final time to prove that they were as good individually as any in the conference — with a 103-81 mauling.

U.I.C. WRESTLERS boast undefeated record in tournaments

U.I.C. matmen began the season well with a first place trophy in the Graceland Invitational, soon followed with the defeat of Lea College. Individual wrestlers were beginning to reach top form and the team was functioning strongly as a unit even before travelling to the Northwest Missouri Tourney. Although many large universities were in attendence, (Northeast Missouri, Kansas State, Western Illinois, and Wayne State), Upper Iowa managed to capture not only the tournament but also the team title and several top positions. Augsburg, Bemidji, and Platteville contests went well, with top wrestlers adding wins to their already outstanding records.

Rick Parsons straddles his man at an early Upper Iowa contest.

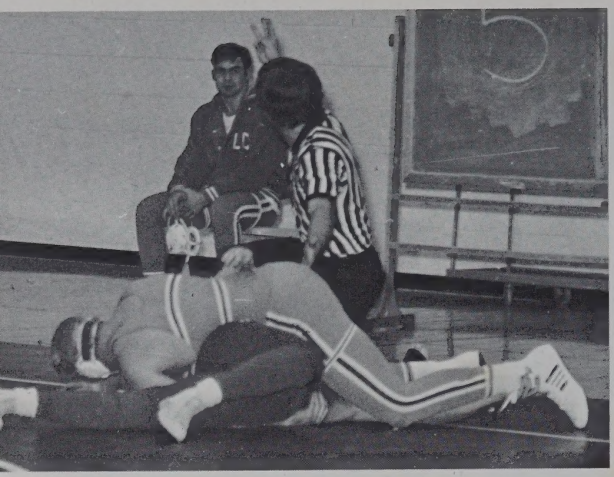
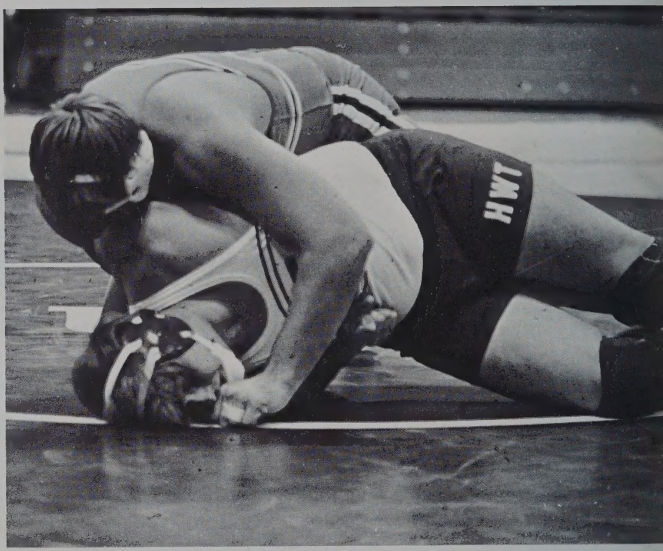
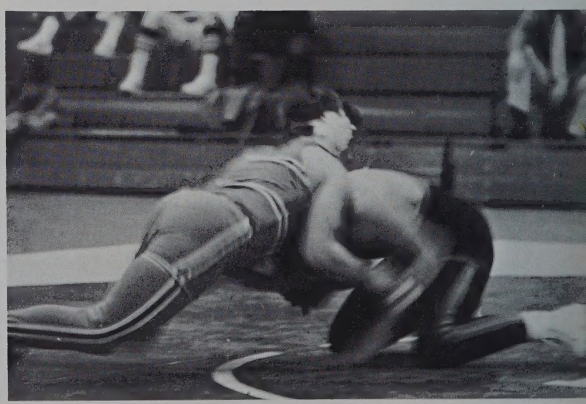
The reflections of wins and near-wins are shown clearly upon the faces of these wrestlers. At times, the entire mood of the team is reflected in the faces and manners of teammates on the side-lines. But most evicent is the tension and fatigue that accompanies all major meets.



NAIA national titleholder Steve Exline exhibits some of the moves that have made him an All-American heavyweight. In his four year wrestling career he has captured the title of UIC's winningest grappler (beating Dave Sanger's record), and also can claim to be the most successful wrestler in Iowa. Steve bested Iowa State's Dan Gable by surpassing his old record of 117 wins. And there are still more to come.

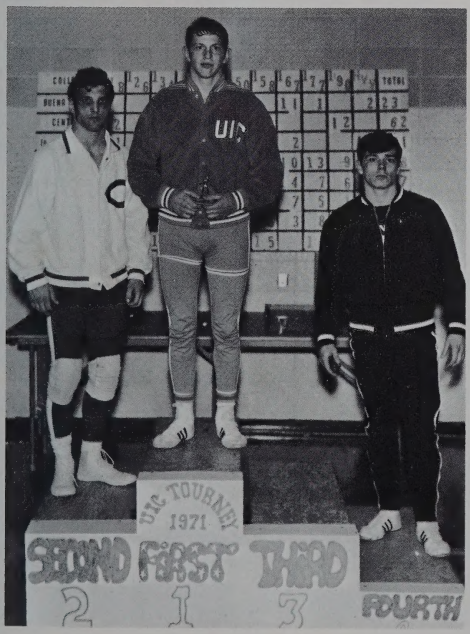




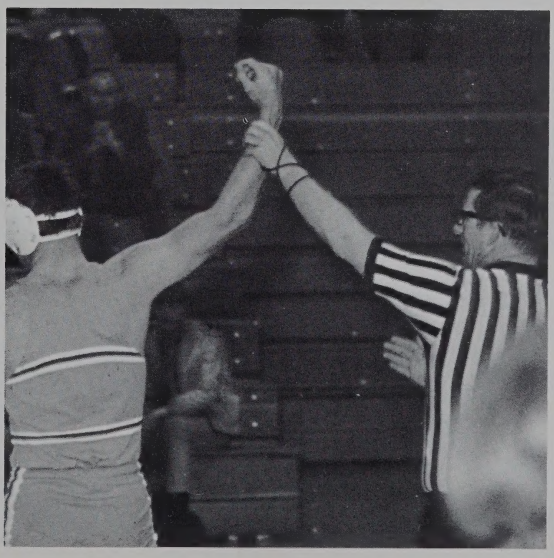
Another top man of Upper Iowa is Dwain Burkholder (118), a senior who will be much missed next year. Again this year Dwain claimed the Iowa Conference title and travelled to North Carolina, ranking highly.

Upper Iowa INVITATIONAL considered highly successful

Dwain Burkholder claimed first place in his 118 weight class during the invitational and also was awarded a trophy for the quickest pin — 26 seconds.

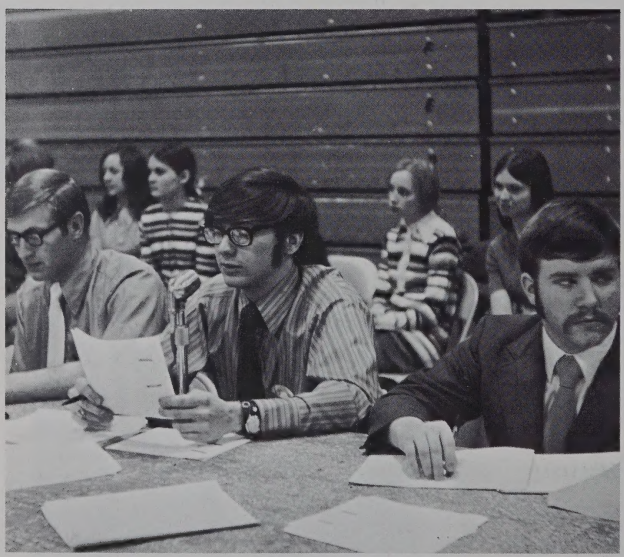


Al Cook, at 158, was also a first place winner during the invitational and helped the team to claim its third consecutive victory.

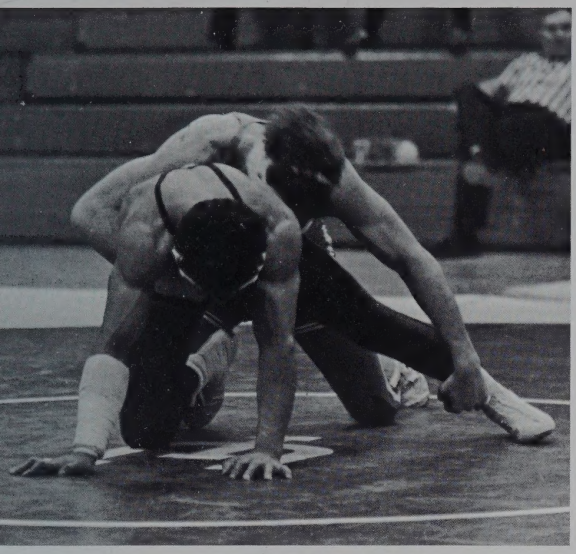


Of the nine men in the championship round, UIC won five titles. Individual winners were: Dennis Daker, Craig Campbell, Dwain Burkholder, Al Cook, and Steve Exline.

Without the ranks of announcers, statisticians, and assistants — even the pretty girls — Upper Iowa could not claim the excellent organization displayed at many meets. Thanks for a job well done.



Craig Campbell, All-American and NAIA champ, became the second person to break the school career-wins record while maintaining an excellent record of victories throughout the year. A contender for another NAIA title, Campbell is undoubtedly one of the best 134 # wrestlers. Other achievements this year included the title of "Outstanding Wrestler" at the District meet.



Dennis Daker has earned his position on the championship team through hard work and skill. His first accomplishment of the season was the award of "Outstanding Wrestler" at the Northwest Missouri State tourney; but his major accomplishment involved a new record for wins in a single season at UIC — over 30.

Dennis Milbrandt demonstrates the ability of one team member to substitute for another, and do well. It is the mark of a well-rounded team that can interchange wrestlers without sacrificing quality.

The 1970-71 wrestling season was an exciting one. From the large tournament victories to the unexpected tie with Wartburg, this year has produced outstanding individual wrestlers. But the major decision always comes with the nationals.

Behind these men is Coach Mike Olson, named the Outstanding Coach of the year for both Conference and District XV. He knows better than anyone what that final decision involves.

"Last year we ranked fourth in the nationals, but some of the team members went thinking that they were competing for experience. This year we went as a team — with the conviction to win!"

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT GOV'T and SOCIAL LIFE aim for better student living . . .

From Orientation week in September to graduation ceremonies in May, Student Government functions as the primary voice of Upper Iowa's student body. Whether compiling Faculty-Student Evaluations, or planning Homecoming, Parents' Day and Mother's Day, or functioning as a grievance committee for students, these members are constantly working in the best interests of their fellow students. This year, the students' concern about legal and consequences were openly discussed. Student government can work effectively for the student body — but only if they help also.

Social life is a student operated organization dedicated to the eradication of the legenday weekend slump at Upper Iowa. In their efforts to assure U.I.C. of an active social calendar, Social Life has provided Upper Iowa with campus activities ranging from coffee houses to car rallies, and from "free nights" in the Union to film festivals. "Badfinger" was featured at the Homecoming concert, and Denny Brooks returned for a performance during the expanded Winter Carnival.

POL. ISSUES and PI GAMMA MU emphasize social sciences

Not only is the Political Issues club concerned with current political topics, but it also concerned with such important areas as pollution and ecology. Earth Day last spring was a successful effort by the organization to bring topics of world-wide importance to the students of Upper Iowa. Mock Supreme Court sessions, discussions, a United Nations mock forum, and the 1970 elections kept the members busy.

An honorary organization, Pi Gamma Mu works toward closer communication among the humanities. Both faculty and students gather to discuss topics relevant to a liberal arts education. In its second year, Pi Gamma Mu tries to serve both the college and community.

PRES. CLUB leads organizations

Cooperation among all organizations is the basic goal of the Presidents' Club. All phases of campus life and academics are discussed with the hope of obtaining a workable foundation for each organization to follow. Whether it be social or educational, new ideas are incorporated by this governing body of student leaders.

SIGMA TAU DELTA trys for literary magazine

In addition to monthly meetings, Sigma Tau Delta tries to provide the campus with occasional speakers, outlets for any literary imagination at gatherings, and especially this year focus on a literary magazine. Even though the fraternity is primarily for those interested in English and literature, the fraternity actively supports the dramatics and social sciences departments.

Although travel to many of the tournaments was hindered, and the high school invitational was cancelled due to weather, Pi Kappa Delta managed to pull through pretty well in those meets in which they did compete. The University of Western Illinois at Macomb was the first successful venture, and subsequent contests gave the group much experience and an above average rating.

new house, new paint and a new BROTHERHOOD . . .

Last spring the Brotherhood reached a long awaited goal — a house of their own. Pride in their culture house, however, has made the group much closer and yet more removed from the campus as a whole. The house serves as a center where Upper Iowa's black students can gather for various activities and also for serious discussions and meetings. After repainting, the Brotherhood spent much of the year entertaining visitors from other colleges and enjoying their new found privacy.

HISTORY department tries for College Bowl team . . .

The History Club, with a present membership of thirty, encourages any student interested in history. Monthly meetings this year included discussions of career opportunities in history, college bowl contests involving students and faculty, films, and an illustrated lecture by Mr. Roger Bowen on the experiences of the Upper Iowa Recruits during the Civil War. Field trips to the Hoover Library and Museum at West Branch and the Norwegian Museum at Decorah were planned.

Phi Alpha Theta is the international history honor fraternity composed of students with at least twelve hours of history and better than a 3.00 grade average in history. Upper Iowa's Xi Pi Chapter was founded in 1968 and presently consists of eight student and eight faculty members. The monthly meetings are devoted to student and faculty papers, discussions of graduate schools, and films of historical interest. Along with the History Club, Phi Alpha Theta sponsored the annual Christmas Party.

SOC — ANTHRO CLUB visits other cultures . . .

Tailored for those with an interest in sociology, the Sociology-Anthropology club also strives to interest the entire campus in its activities. Campus-wide movies, special convocation speakers, and the proposed summer trip to the Southwest are all part of sociology. The members not only concentrate on the sociological problems of the United States, but learn about other cultures through films and featured speakers at their monthly meetings.

MUSIC adds flair to college atmosphere

Under the direction of Mr. Dennis Smith, the Upper Iowa concert and dance bands have been experimenting in modern jazz and electronic music. In the past the concert band has been primarily concerned only with half-time music at athletic events and occasional concerts for Mother's Day, for example. In the few years that the band has been changing, more students have begun to recognize the fine quality of the Big Blue Band, and musical events have been more readily attended and enjoyed.

The biggest improvement has come with the dance band. Now with new evening wear, the band has received invitations to play for various college functions, Dr. Paul's inauguration ball this year, and outside engagements for surrounding communities. With increased student involvement, the interest on campus has also increased.

GAMMA MU SIGMA renovates attic

As an honorary music fraternity, Gamma Mu Sigma provides varied activities for both the College and community. In addition to its duties to music majors, the fraternity majors act as hosts for musical events on campus. This year the fraternity began a project to beautify the music house, and started with a bright blue coat of paint on the attic.

FOXES lead the "independents"

Now in their third year, the Foxes continue to participate in more and more school functions; such as Student Government, social life, dramatics and all sports events. The Foxes pride themselves in their involvement, and hope it will lead to increased activity and pride in Upper Iowa College. While the sole purpose of the organization remains the same — to provide for a good time on campus — the constitution limits membership to those who exhibit the necessary qualities of loyalty, respect, and pride.

VETS CLUB

One of the longest standing organizations on the Upper Iowa campus is the Veterans Club. In addition to their services as Color Guard for football games and especially Homecoming, regular activities include the signing of Christmas cards to servicemen and the annual Veterans' Day ceremonies. New this year were the two antique, gun, and coin shows and the chili supper during Winter Carnival.

CAMPUS WIVES

For those wives of students, Campus Wives offers a chance for them to socialize, sponsor money-raising projects, and become involved with other campus activities. The aim of the wives is to ultimately raise enough money so that they are able to treat their husbands to a special dinner and dancing evening.

TUTOR SOCIETY cares about students . . .

Because Upper Iowa is concerned with the academic welfare of its students, the Tutor Society was first begun to help any student who was in need of special tutoring. Recommended by the faculty, this group of exceptional students must be available to help students in many areas. This year the program was changed from a regular Thursday night meeting to an appointment basis where the student requesting help could schedule a time to meet with the tutor.

U.I. CLUB

For those young men who have lettered in one or more school sponsored sports, unity in athletics is an important part of campus living.

Along with the annual Spring Carnival, the lettermen participate in various campus activities such as Homecoming and Winter Weekend. This year a candy selling project was initiated to raise money, as well as the regular game concessions, parking cars, and selling programs. This money is then used to purchase letter jackets, sweaters, rings, and blankets for club members.

LIFTERS take state

Of all the athletic events on the Upper Iowa campus, the weight lifters receive the least publicity. Now in its fourth year, the club has participated in numerous meets and established an outstanding record. Besides sponsoring two invitationals, the group has broken 5 state records and claimed two state championships. Even with virtually no aid or sponsorship, the Barbell Club has produced three state contenders — Fred Lembke ranks 6th in the 181 # class, Dwight Cooper is 3rd in the 165 # class, and Dennis Glawe places 2nd in the 148 # class. The biggest triumph for the team, however, came with the defeat of Iowa State, their chief rival.

G.H.W.C. and S.O.B.s emphasize social activities . . .

Organized in 1967, the G.H.W.C. has enjoyed four years of functions and intramural sports and is now left with the memories of friends and activities. A final distribution of stamps will mark the end of the G.H.W.C. Many of the original members are no longer present (Bunny, Carol, Kathy, Mickey, Val, and Laura), and along with Scott, these girls will formally bid farewell to U.I.C.

Sigma Omega Beta is a social organization that was founded in the fall, the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-one. Its legend surrounds a group of men who conduct themselves in such a manner befitting the image of this benevolent, congenial group of dedicated young men.

The main activities of the organization follow a desire to promote an enlivened social life and to provide better service to their fellow students, the college, and to the community.

PSYCH CLUB new to UIC

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Ron Moore, the Psychology Club was first begun in the spring of 1970. Now with the help of Mrs. Lois Bradley, the club has established a wide range of activities involving all branches of psychology. interest in WOMEN'S ATHLETICS increases . . .

After four years, the girls intercollegiate basketball team has experienced a very successful season. Competition with Wartburg, Luther, and UNI represented most of this season's action, with a state-wide tournament at Iowa City culminating the season. The year's highlight came with the encounter of their first out of state team — the University of Northern Illinois.

Although almost three-fourths of the women at UIC, are somehow involved in athletics, the Women's Recreation Association represents all women's sports; both intramural and intercollegiate. All intramural programs are, for the most part, organized by the WRA with outside help from Miss Margaret Karmer.

KUIU boosts power with new equipment

KUIU, serving the Upper Iowa campus, provides the student body with an interesting array of programming. The station, independently operated, has reached an increasingly larger listening audience due to improved equipment and the faithful work of its members. The programming of KUIU consists of popular music, campus news and controversy, sports, and public service shows. KUIU, constantly growing and improving, will continue to be an asset to the College.

SCIENCE CLUB

Again this year the Science Club claimed first place float in the Homecoming parade. Activities of special interest to the members are taxidermy, field trips, and sponsoring guest lecturers. Occasionally personal experiments or research are conducted, so that the other members may benefit from the experience.

COLLEGIAN fights student apathy

Although the primary staffing of the Collegian comes from the Reporting II classes, the responsibility of any college newspaper should rest with the student body. The newspaper began the year well enough, until apathy caught up with it. Second semester saw a change-over of editors and the struggle continued — sometimes successful, and sometimes not.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA strives to serve community and college

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, works for the benefit of the student. Many college services, such as help with registration, school drivers, pledge projects which benefit the campus, and student directories have become annual services of the fraternity. A spring clean-up of Big Rock park and the community billboard enable the members to communicate with citizens of Fayette, and foster better college — community relations.

BETA THETA PHI plans active social calendar . . .

Above all else, Betas value brotherhood and loyalty. Most of their claendar is planned around these basic ideals with many social activities designed to provide better relations among alumni and new members. This year an alumni association was organized with the purpose of establishing a revolving scholarship fund of $500 to be used by any eligible member.

Major activities throughout the year included the pig roast and Hells Angels party, various holiday parties, along with the spring and winter formals. To begin the calendar, the Betas hosted a "Magic Valley Invitational #1" for new freshmen and also plan to sponsor another auction-dance with girls from Wartburg this year.

A typical weekend get-together with alumnus Bob Kreiner emphasizes alain the strong bond between brothers that is typical of the Betas.

Pledges and actives alike learn that grueling college life deserves a little break now and then. And when that break occurs at the convenient off-campus apartments, they become occasions to remember.

Beta Theta Phi presented Dr. Charles Clark with a check, for the college to use for general betterment. The fraternity is concerned with he future of the college, and its association with students.

CHI DELTS are active on campus

Chi Delta Epsilon girls stress to the highest degree sisterhood, Greek unity, friendship, and high scholastic achievement. The women of Chi had a very good year, beginning with an Oriental Tea House, a formal at the Cliff House, and a Barn Dance. Weekly activities include slumber parties, sandwich sales, and rap sessions between actives and pledges. Special emphasis is placed on Christmas, with the trimming of Mrs. Lois Bradley's tree as highlight. Chi Delts celebrated their fourth birthday February 14th with an anniversary tea.

KAPPA ETA BETA combines service and good times for an active year

Kappas are comprised of women who strive for life-long friendships, services for others, and high scholarship and leadership. For all who participate, the calendar is very active. The members enjoy doing things together, and slumber parties, Homecoming teas and caroling are quite common. Kappa also visits a home for the mentally retarded periodically to help serve the community, as well as gain rewarding experiences for themselves. The social highlights of the year are the fall semi-formal and the spring formal.

Whenever a Kappa get-together occurs, the curtain rises to reveal an assortment of skits, games and puzzles.

Since the chapter was first organized, the main goal of Tau Kappa Upsilon had been to someday affiliate itself with TKE national.

After two years of hard work, trial periods, and numerous inspections, Upper Iowa's TKE affiliate is now the Nu Sigma chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon. The final ceremonies took place March 5, 6, 7 when Upper Iowa's chapter was the 295th to be activated.

Some of the benefits of national affiliation include free placement services for members, an annual housing fund, and various scholarship/loan funds. All 43 recognized members should be congratulated.

Davis and Philbert take the lead on the annual bike ride; this year to Dubuque.

For any TKE, the most trying time of his brotherhood is the infamous poling ceremony. And for Margo it is almost as trying to stand by and watch.

For most fraternities, an annual skip weekend for the pledges is planned. Pledge and actives here are Betas.

SEATED: Cheryl Hand; Linda Levendusku; Jeanne Pirages; Cathy Hyduk, secretary; Wendy Walker; Ruth Kann; Treva Thraikill; Linda Mahlstedt, treasurer; Diane Foss. STANDING: George Ogborn; Paul Sabin; Sam Crum; president; Doug Hand, vice-president; Ed Williams; Fred Perry.

Sigmas treat Rush Week with gaiety and color; while underneath any sorority girl is silently identifying with pledges.

IF — PC strives for unity . . .

Formed as a communication basis among sororities and fraternities on campus, IF — PC does more than regulate or settle feuds. Its major concern is with the calendar of events involving all Greek organizations, and particularly the planning of Greek Week activities. Ideally, during this week all fraternities and sororities work together to form a unified Greek system.

Far from the hustle and bustle of ordinary sorority life, two sisters take time to enjoy quite companionship.

Even the social fraternities do services for the community. Take this example of a spring clean-up project of Klock's Island.

The final turning point . . . GRADUATION

After four years (or more) of hard work, the college student finally reaches his goal. Four years of booking, tests, and final exams are over; with that diploma he can finally make his way, with his own talents and abilities.

For most parents, it is a dream come true; perhaps something they would have liked to accomplish, but never had the opportunity. Their son or daughter has graduated from college and becomes a source of pride for the entire family. It becomes perhaps the most significant turning point in one's life.

Robert Giroux, President of Clarke College in Dubuque, addresses seniors at Baccalaureate.

Previously, Upper Iowa College has held three Commencement exercises: January, June, and August. However, the academic year 1971-72 will see only one graduation ceremony in June. With the implementation of the 4-1-4 Interim program, and the increased cost of graduation exercises, the June graduation will serve all graduates for that year.

A FINAL NOTE . . .

The production of this yearbook has been a long, tedious burden — yet a burden which we have enjoyed. At times it seemed as if we would never get ahead, but the many different experiences have proved invaluable to us both.

To those special few who helped us when the going got rough — we thank you most sincerely.

Our special thanks go to Phil for all his help. Without his assistance, those first few deadlines would have been extremely difficult. We can never repay the debt; all we can do is thank you for giving of yourself.

Jeff Mervin designed the cover and Gail was unselfish in her help. Rocky and Debi sacrificed many hours for the excellent artwork — to them: what more can we say?

And also Pat for his adept handling of all financial areas and Sodie for being patient with all our problems.

It is our hope that you will receive as much satisfaction from examining this yearbook as we have from producing it.

This is our yearbook . . .

Barbie Jo
and Knobby

You give little when you give of your possessions.
It is when you give of yourself that you truly give.

There are those who give little of the much which they have — and they give it for recognition and their hidden desires makes their gifts unwholesome.

There are those who give with joy, and that joy is their reward.

And there are those who have little and give it all.

— Gibran
